September greeted us at Licking Valley with opportunities unlimited. To illustrate these opportunities, we have decided to present a triangular picture of the life at Licking Valley. Each side represents a segment of this life--the past, present, and future. Assuming the role of master craftsmen, seniors guided the picture's production and asserted their leadership through executive positions in many school organizations. Freshmen, sophomore, and junior apprentices added their own special touches to the year through academics, athletics, and extra-curricular activities. We had nine months to create the triangle--nine exciting months of yelling in pep rallies, cramming for tests, acting in drama productions, taking College College Boards, and cheering the teams on to victory. Each facet of school life--each part of the picture--was essential to the triangle.

D e d i c a t i o n

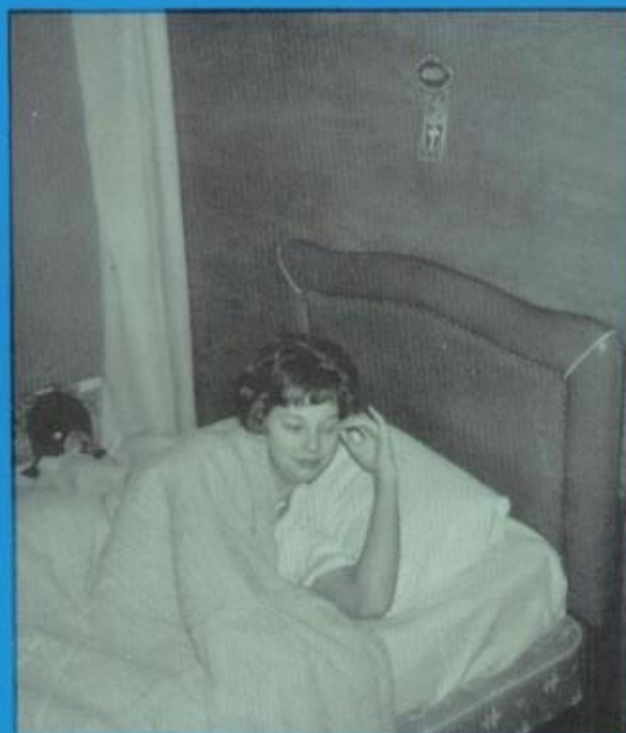

Throughout the remainder of our lives, the past, present, and future will reflect the part of you that each of us carries in his heart. We hope to be a credit to the unselfish guidance and influence you have imparted to us. It is impossible to express our gratitude for all the kind assistance and personal interest you have taken in us.

Your work in providing for us the best education and finest educational facilities possible will be remembered by each of us as we grow into responsible citizens. To a man dedicated to his profession and worthy of his position, whose life is an example of service to the community, we the class of 1964 wish to dedicate our yearbook.

THE SCHOOL DAY BEGINS. . .

THE SCHOOL DAY ENDS. .

... with deserted halls.

There's always extra work...

... at publicity work. . .

... on the "Panther Prints"...

... at club meetings. . .

...and then home.

The academic life of a student usually ends with the last bell of the day, but his extra-curricular activities becomes a complementary figure to our triangular picture.

School activities were widely diversified to challenge the talents and interests of each student. Clubs, plays, dances and athletics helped make our picture more complete.

ADMINISTRATION...

Directors Of Policy

Under the experienced leadership of Executive Head, Robert Sanders and Principal, Harold Howard, the administrative staff of Licking Valley High School sought all-around excellence in education. By fitting together the administrative pieces of a balanced curriculum, dedicated teachers, physical equipment and a sound counseling program they achieved their goal.

Feminine Assistants To Administration. . .

Licking Valley office personnel tackled the large and often difficult assignment of handling school secretarial work in a smiling and efficient manner. Mrs. Eckard commanded the issuance of admit slips, checked the tide of office traffic, and countless other tasks. Mrs. Covey sought to match the tide of incoming mail with outgoing replies and tended to dictation and secretarial tasks.

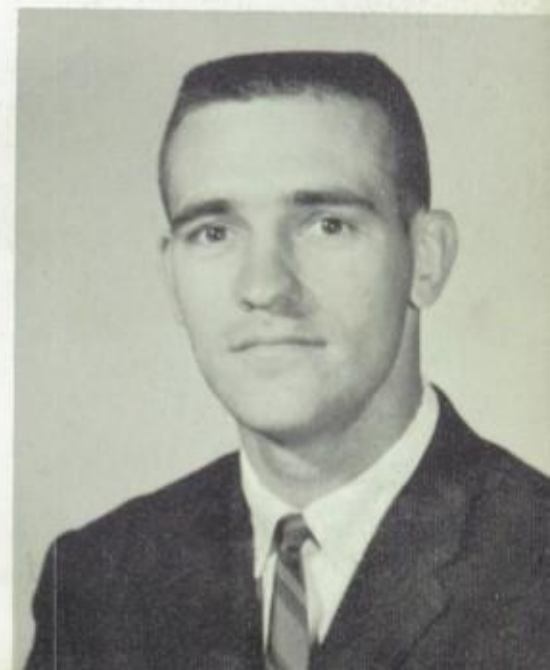

Influential Legislators Of District Decisions. . .

The Board of Education, meeting every third Thursday, strived toward a better school system. At each meeting the members debated the merits of numerous proposals set before them. With this tremendous amount of work and responsibility, the Board became an integral part of a well-run and efficient school district.

An army has to be fed as does a group of students five-hundred strong. Thus, the ladies-in-white, Mrs. Ila O'Flaherty, Mrs. Margaret Willey, Mrs. Francis Carson, and Mrs. Mildred Carle tackled the situation with egg beater and measuring cup in hand. The outcome was a nutritious daily meal served with smiles and laughter.

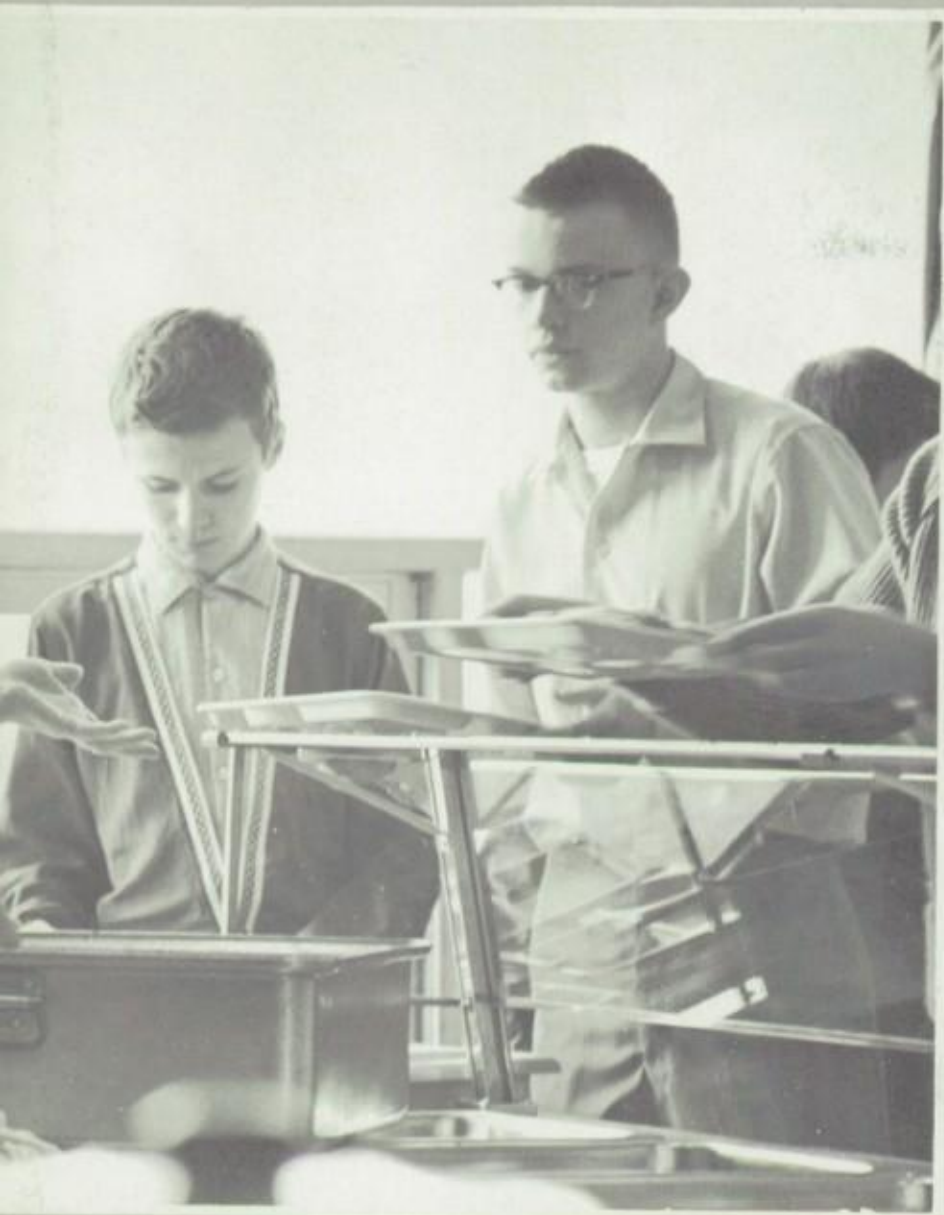

Mr. Sanders always finds time for a smile during a busy day.

Throughout the year as the creation of our triangular picture progressed, the academic part became a dominant side. With competent teachers to guide us, we sought higher education, our progress leaving lasting impressions on our expanding future.

The teaching staff became the dominant figures of our academic life. Progressing with their help from Speech and SWINGING HIGH to Journalism and William Shakespeare, we developed language dexterity through communications. Their experience in foreign languages aided us in understanding other people and cultures. Their explanation of the physical laws in math and the sciences helped us to build a firm academic foundation. The hours spent in the social sciences helped to chart the course of man in space and time. Business education prepared us vocationally as the fine and practical arts offered us appreciation and creativity.

S E N I O R S

The melting pot of school life softened and molded a Freshman class into an assured and confident Senior class. Shaped into a unit of thought and activity, we filled the year brimful with anxiety and expectation, surviving semester examinations to plunge into the whirl of prom and graduation. The fantasies and realities of a year poured onto the open hearth of school life. Combinations of diversified interests and molten memories were fashioned into the reminders of 1964. It was the decisive year and each event came with the finality of a door closing on the past and opening into a sunny future for the class of 1964.

Work, Study, Plan. . .

The Junior class under the leadership of their competent officers, Mark Hale, Jeff Woolard, Barbara Ralston, and Margaret Jones, found the 1963-64 school year a trial period for testing the basic principals of school leadership not experienced in the past.

After proving their excellent salesmanship abilities through such projects as magazine sales, sweatshirt sales, the sale of window cleaner and the sponsoring of a Sadie Hawkins Dance. Juniors accumulated the funds with which they presented the wonderful and unforgettable Junior-Senior Prom.

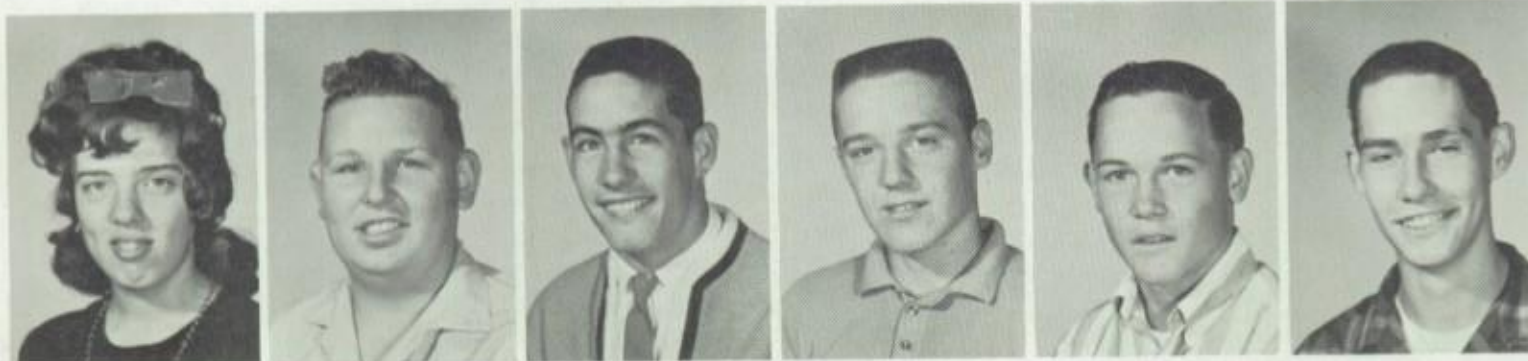

During the present year, the scope of the Juniors' ability touched all phases of school life. Through skill, Junior athletes achieved victory and many letter awards. The County Honor Society, scholarship tests and the honor roll demonstrated the excellent scholastic aptitude of the class. Sparkling Junior performances enhanced dramas and musicals.

After successfully completing the prescribed course in apprenticeship, Juniors envisioned roles as future members of the Senior class.

Varied Activities Highlight The Sophomore Year. . .

. . . The Sophomores entered the school life of 1963-64 bringing new talent to scholastics and extra-curricular activities. They easily assumed their new role as resourceful students of Licking Valley High School.

At present, they are represented by executive officers, Bob Carle, president; Cheryl Evans, vice-president; Suellen Woolard, secretary; and Gary Westbrook, treasurer. The Sophomores participated in the Science Fair, Student Council, and scholarship tests. Sports-minded Sophomores attained many outstanding achievements in football, basketball, baseball, and track.

With spring elections and tryouts, the prospective Juniors began plans for the future year. Seniors and Juniors fully acknowledged the contribution to a strong student body by the industrious class of 1966.

. . . Beginning their first year of high school life, Freshmen visualize with eagerness the vast opportunities that await them in the 1963-64 school year.

Starting the year off right, Freshmen elected extremely capable leaders. Assuming their responsible roles as officers were Joe Baughman, president; John McLeish, vice-president; Billie Sue Nethers, secretary; and Susan Osborne, treasurer.

High points of the present year included class participation in the Student Council, Science Fair, and scholarship tests. Freshman sports included valuable contributions in basketball, football, baseball, and track.

With the knowledge that as next year's Sophomores they will be faced with more responsibility, the Freshmen look forward to assuming their future roles as greater leaders in our school.

Upon arrival at Licking Valley, Eighth graders found themselves a part of a new atmosphere entirely different from that of previous years.

All through the present year, the Eighth graders fit themselves into the normal everyday trend of high school procedure as they demonstrated scholastic abilities by their participation in the County Spelling Contest, Science Fair, and Student Council. The Eighth grade basketball team made an extremely reputable showing in the field of athletics.

The ambitious Eighth graders were led by their efficient and capable officers Dick Vaiea, Rockett Hardy, Susan Warner, and Mark Darnes.

As they look to future years as students of Licking Valley, they wait with anticipation for the time when they will become high school students.

BASKETBALL...

Tournament time will always be eagerly awaited by students and fans from L. V. Our team this year, coached by Mr. Dick Torbert, worked their way up to Regional "Runner-ups." This was made possible by strong desire, excellent coaching, and sufficient background. This background was obtained through Licking Valley's fine basketball programs. In this program, all students from eighth graders to seniors have equal opportunities in the field of basketball participation. Eighth graders are coached very ably by Mr. Robert McGaughy. These boys play a full schedule of local teams. Our boys do well, and in their freshman year are promoted to Coach James Salina's Freshman squad. These boys, through experience gained the previous year, were Licking County Champions.

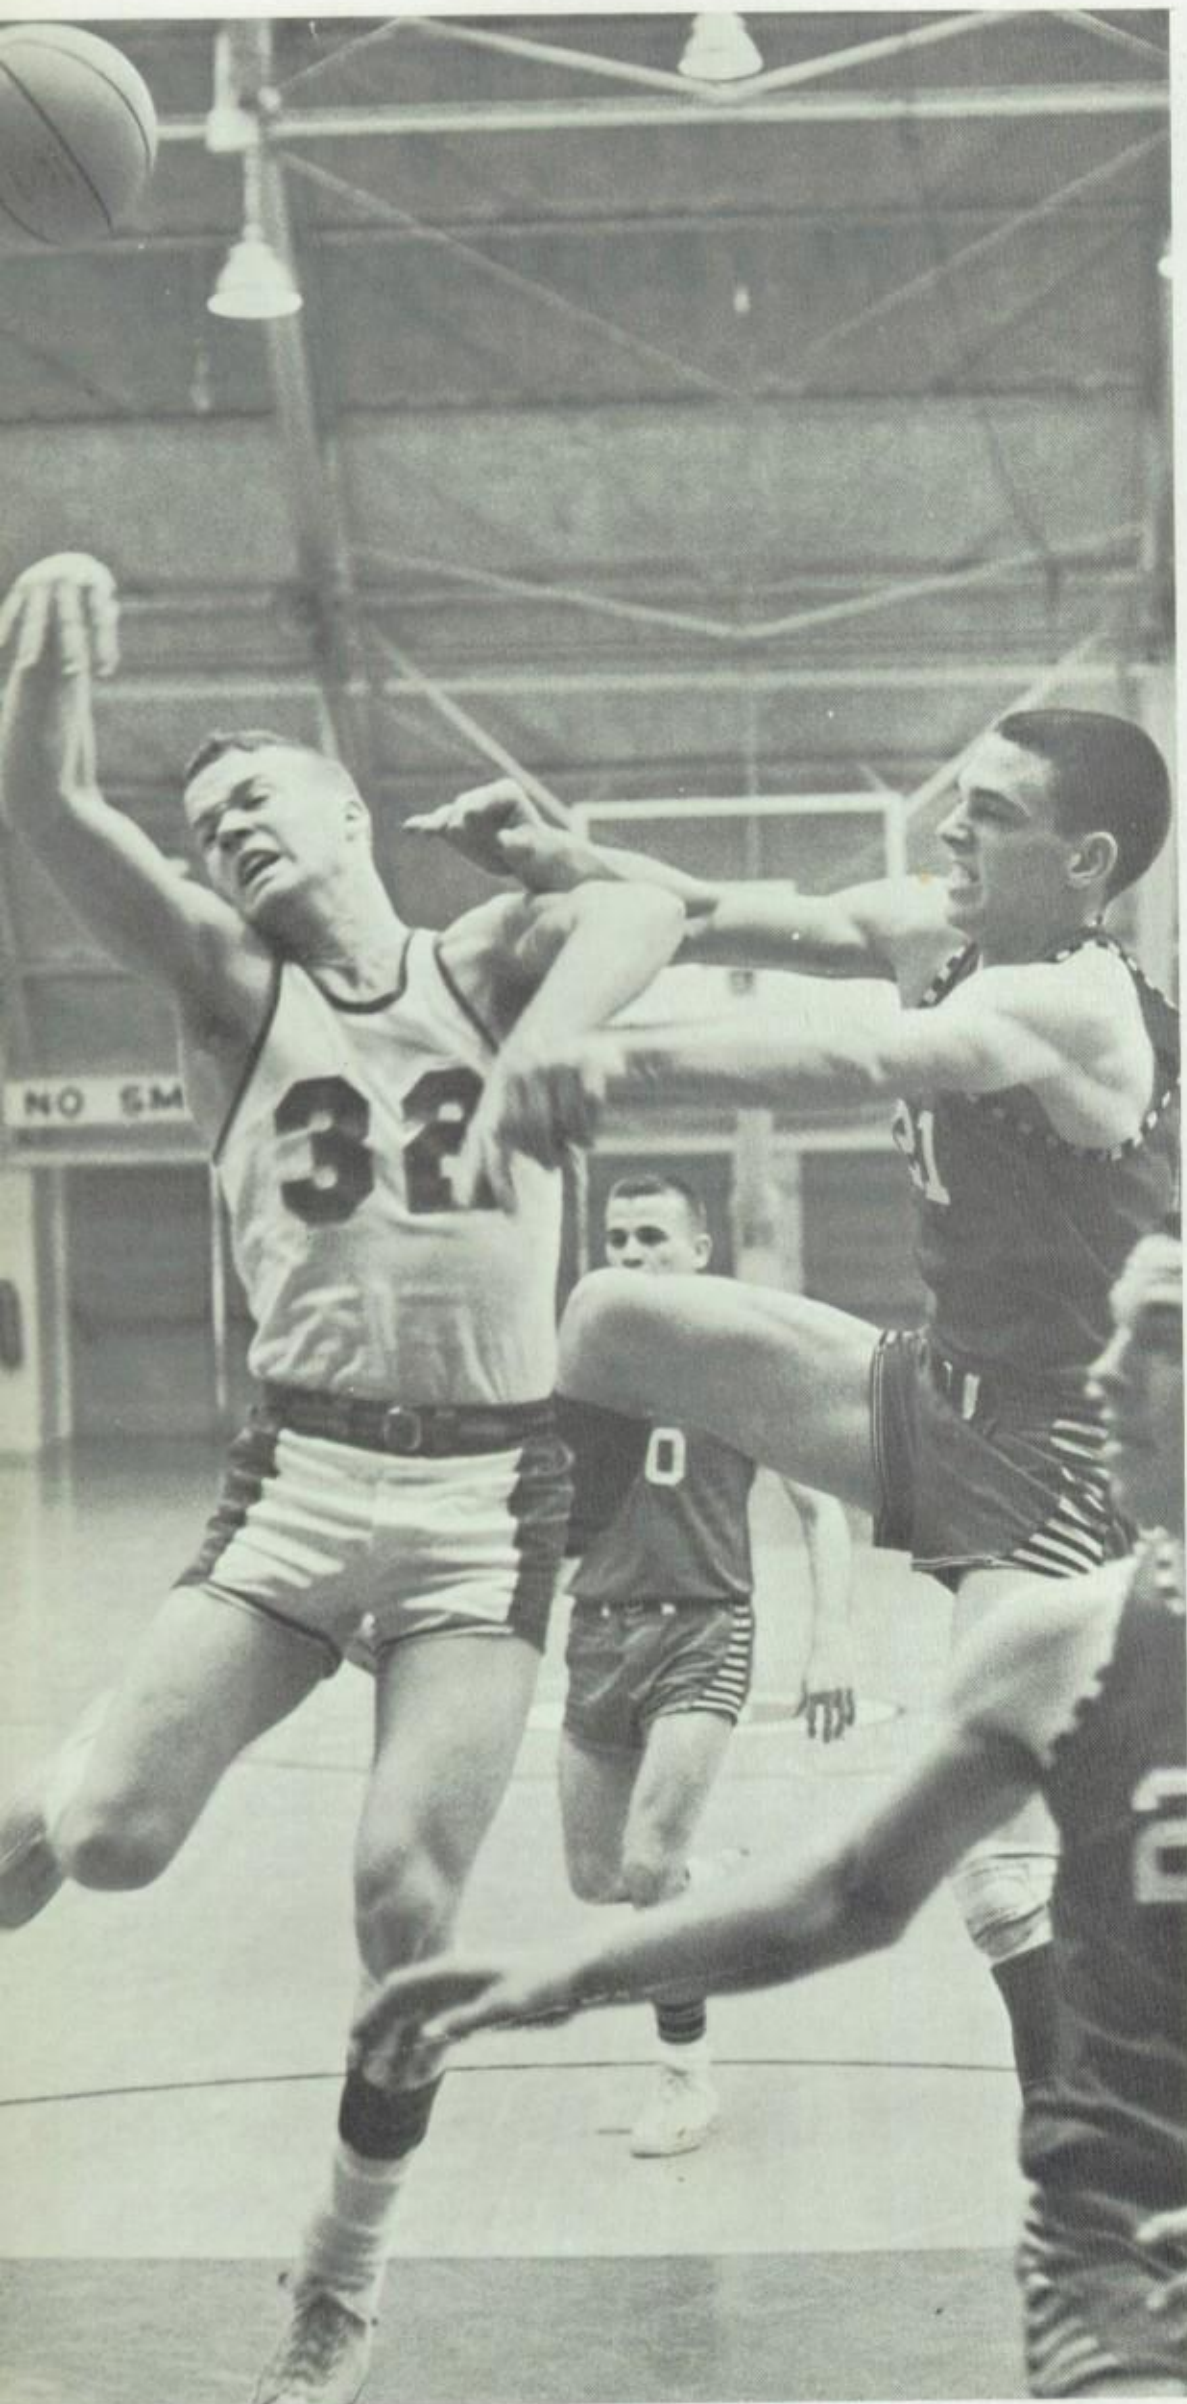

While on the Freshman squad they have opportunities for advancement to Reserve and even Varsity Teams.

The fine Reserve Team is very well coached by Mr. Don Williams. These boys set a new record this year at 15-3. A few of these boys were promoted to the Varsity squad at tournament time.

Coach Salina prepares to time Dick Shaw in the 440.

Larry Cullins checks his pole vaulting form during a practice session.

... Overcoming many obstacles the Licking Valley Track Team coached by Mr. James Salina, climaxed a successful season. This year's team consisted of seventeen members and most of them were underclassmen. A young squad proves good for any team in later years. Jeff Woolard made an outstanding showing as he finished first in the 120 high hurdles in the Licking County League. Gaining experience and ability in each meet showed great potential for next year's team.

Wayne Hall gets a charge out of his electricity exhibit.

SCIENCE FAIR

One of the long lines of exhibitors stretches across the gym floor.

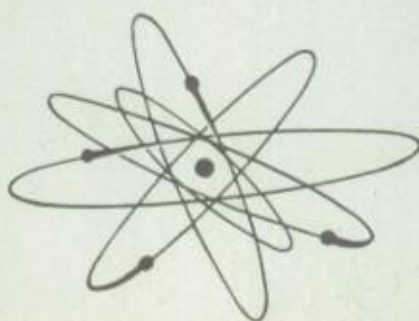

One of the major events this year was the annual Science Fair. A series of projects were shown by students ranging from General Science to Chemistry and Biology. Chosen from all the entries to the Science Fair, Mike Dettre was the only winner to proceed on to the State Science Finals.

Cindy Thompson deals a few hands to prove her poker probability theory.

Edith Abel explains the functions of the human heart to inquisitive Carol Martin.

Press. .

Trying to achieve the same excellent rating that last year's Vali-Hi received from the National School Yearbook Association, the Journalism Club strived to portray the panorama of school life at L. V.

The yearbook staff worked long hours for many months drafting the pattern for their triangular picture. For the past two years Mr. Irving Lloyd, has provided many photographs for our Vali-Hi. Mr. Lloyd is the nation's most outstanding yearbook feature photographer. A professional for more than seventeen years, he has concentrated on yearbook photography for this period. He is known in the field of Journalism an outstanding feature photographer, lecturer, and artist, and is currently the Photographic Consultant of the National Scholastic Press Association.

Licking Valley is one of the few schools in the United States which was selected by Mr. Lloyd to be featured in his latest book, YEARBOOK PHOTO JOURNALISM.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to him.

Vali-Hi and

Marsh and Jon guard the proofs.

Homecoming... Holiday Hop...

Homecoming 1963 presented many thrills for the Queen nominees and court. Delivered onto the field in new convertibles, the candidates were met by the majestic tones of the bands fanfare. Presented with a bouquet of red roses, Homecoming Queen Martha Parr was crowned by Gene Barr; thus starting her reign which lasted through Homecoming Dance following the game.

The Annual "Holiday Hop" unfolded Saturday, December 14, in the splendor of the Christmas season. As the couples danced around the loaded sleigh, three lovely girls eagerly awaited the intermission when Sharon Dettre was crowned "Holiday Queen;" Becky Morin, "Candy Princess;" and Kathy Shaw, "Holly Princess."

Seniors hard at work decorating for the Homecoming Dance.

Seniors Kathy Shaw and Frank McGee are seen on the square about to do some Christmas shopping.

Prom. . .

Throughout the days preceding the dance, juniors worked very hard to achieve the splendor of the evening. During a suspenseful intermission the Queen Nancy Hayden was crowned and attendants Becky Morin, Kathy Shaw, Betty Hays, and Martha Parr were presented gifts. The evening passed quickly to the strains of soft music. The Prom will remain as the outstanding social event of the year.

Looking Ahead

Today as never before, there is a greater interest on the part of Americans in what the future holds, and how our nation is prepared to meet the demands and the challenges ahead.

Electric power will grow with the future and contribute greatly to it. To assure the effective role of electricity in serving the needs of the nation, the electric companies will continue to need capable and well-educated young people to meet the challenge of tomorrow.

Congratulations

Graduating Class of 1964

We the officers, parents and teachers of Licking Valley Parent Teachers Organization wish to extend to you our sincere and best wishes in your achieving this honor of graduation from Licking Valley High School.

You are to be commended for your foresight and perseverance. This success is yours because you have sacrificed and put forth an effort to realize a goal.

Not only you, but others, have been responsible for making this goal a reality. We are dependent throughout our lives for the help and encouragement of others.

It is our desire that your lives be a success--both in material possessions, and in spiritual blessings; therefore we are hopeful that you will dedicate your lives to God.
